Can I obtain my bachelor's degree in Lamar?

Yes, you can! Start by completing your associate degree at Lamar Community College to transfer to another college or university. Then take advantage of one of these opportunities to have a seamless transition to bachelor's coursework...

REAP

RURAL EDUCATION ACCESS PROGRAM

Under REAP, take your first two years of course work here at LCC and then transfer to Adams State for the final two years. The difference is that you take your upper-division Adams State Classes at LCC, without having to travel to the Adams State College campus in Alamosa. REAP offers the following majors:

BA Elementary Education (most classes are offered at LCC);

BA Business Administration (most classes are online, new option allows use of up to 37 credits in applied courses);

BA Sociology (all online); and

BA Interdisciplinary Studies (contact ASC for options & course delivery.)

3+1 PROGRAM

Need more options for your bachelor's degree? Consider Regis University School for Professional Studies. Take your third year upper level classes at LCC and then your final year courses online or guided independent study at Regis. Or take classes one night a week in Colorado Springs to finish your degree. It's called the 3+1 program, and it's easy as 3 + 1!
