FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUMBURG HONORED AS ADMINISTRATOR OF YEAR

(Lamar, Colorado; March 3, 2010) Lamar Community College is pleased to announce its 2009 Administrator of the Year, Aubrie Humburg. Humburg has worked for the college since July of 2005, when she was hired as the college's Small Business Management (SBM) instructor. The well respected and popular program had been under the guidance of retired instructor Veryl Peery, so she quickly had to fill 'big shoes.' SBM is a dynamic program that is a hybrid between traditional classroom instruction and hands-on consultation with current business owner/managers. The SBM director is responsible for both recruiting students and instruction. Humburg quickly made her distinctive mark on the program and its students, filling the program to over its capacity along the way.

In March of 2008, she began the transition from SBM director to the college's controller at the request of LCC's senior leadership. Since then, she has again made her mark, participating in a proactive budgeting process and advising LCC's senior leadership team to make informed and timely decisions. Her timeliness and dedication recently brought the college and herself praise from the Colorado Community College System; she was one of three college controllers to be recognized.

Vice President of Administrative Services Cheryl Sanchez commented, "Aubrie has taken it upon herself to manage our funds, provide training, and conduct internal audits for efficiency that insure proper use of funds. She is a hardworking employee who contributes to LCC in many ways. Her smile and willingness to help others are great attributes."

An LCC and Holly High School alumna, Humburg earned a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and Accounting from Franklin University in 2005.
